A HISTORY OF CILT

1919 Henry Herman Gordon

In 1918, a relatively unknown railwayman named Henry Herman Gordon wrote a letter to The Times, calling for the creation of an Institute for the study of transport and logistics.

It was that letter, along with an expanded version written to Modern Transport at the behest of Editor Frederick Charles Coleman, which led directly to the formation of our Institute. Gordon went on to chair the first ever meeting on the idea of creating an Institute of Transport, and after the creation of the Preliminary Committee under the leadership of Lord Ashfield, Gordon worked alongside H.E. Blain to fulfill many of the necessary administrative functions of the nascent Institute. There is no photographic record of Gordon, and he never received public honour for this work, but there can be little doubt of the important role he played.

INDUSTRY LEAD BODY (ILB) SAFETY DRIVING CENTRE (SDC)

How serious are we about road safety?

As a nation we are famous for giving discounts to traffic offenders who have not settled their summons. This is bad road safety policy. Why? Traffic offenders summons are issued for violations of Road Traffic Rules and the Highwaycode. Such behaviour causes road crashes, road deaths and injuries. In 2023 number of deaths on our roads was 6433 and 70 % of deaths involved young motorcycle riders. The rule of the thumb is 3 serious injuries for every death. Cost of road crash accident victim treatment is a huge burden to our healthcare system

Our motor Insurance Industry is burdened by high claims ratio for 3rd party claims particularly for motorcyclists third party claims. Perkeso payout for compensation for commuting journey road crashes. Lets look at greivous and incriminating data from our Department of Welfare. Of the 680,000 welfare aid recipients from 240 000 are road crash victims. World Bank estimates costs of road crashes to be around 2%-3% of GDP. This means that minimising road crashes can add 2% to GDP growth. One should bear in mind also the grief and pain as well as socio economic disruption caused to families of loved ones lost in road crashes.

Malaysia is a signatory party to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) agenda. Signatory parties such as Malaysia have promised to reduce the absolute number of road deaths by 50% by year 2030. Unfortunately instead of reducing Malaysia's road death figure is increasing year on year. Malaysia has drawn up a road Safety plan called the Malaysia Road Safety Plan 2022 - 2030 designed to reduce the absolute number of road deaths by 50% by year 2030. At the moment based on increasing rate of road deaths Malaysia targets to reduce road deaths by 50% is just a distant dream. If Malaysia is serious about reducing the daily carnage on our roads then our driver and vehicle enforcement and driver education should be following best practise of global road safety leaders with minimal road crashes.

We cannot continue to have a dysfunctional Driver Merit & Demerit system that does not work to suspend reckless and repeat road traffic safety rules violators even when they have 20,30,40 or more traffic offences & only cry wolf when a serious road crash happens (with many fatalites) to announce that the vehicle driver had many outstanding traffic offences. The purpose of an effective law enforcement program on drivers is to serve as a strong deterrence and to instil fear of suspension or loosing their drivers license. The Perception of a Driver getting a traffic summons or suspension of drivers license or being charged in court for serious and non compoundable traffic offences such as reckless driving causing death is a low 30% . In countries which are leaders of road safety the perception of a driver being booked for a traffic offence is close to 100%.

How serious are we about road safety?

Malaysia can join the league of countries with an excellent road safety record such as Norway, Sweden, UK, Japan, Australia, Germany, US etc by improving effectiveness of traffic law enforcement through improving Kejara implementation, introducing more speed and traffic light cameras to curb speeding and traffic light violations, introducing weighing in motion to deter frequent occurrence of overloading, stringent action on illegal racing on our roads.

Moreover our riders are taught to ride on the left side of the road but they are riding in fast lanes and lane filtering and lane splitting in blindspot zones of their own angle of vision as well as other drivers angle of vision. This is contributory to the high road crashes deaths and injuries involving our riders. To solve this problem the traffic regulations should be amended to disallow riders below 250cc to ride on fast lanes and to do lane splitting between two traffic lanes or lane filtering between multiple traffic lanes. Difficult to do? Not if the benefits of reducing road crashes and saving lives is well explained through a collective effort involving MOT, KKR, MKJR, JPJ, PDRM and MIROS. To add momentum to an advocacy and rider education campaign led by above Government agencies enlisting support of the private sector and road safety NGOs is vital

CILTM SECTION ACTIVITIES PENANG SECTION

Dato' Chang Kah Loon, FCILT, emphasizes that logistics management is a shared responsibility and calls for collective efforts to create a safer and more efficient supply chain for the betterment of the industry and community. As professional logisticians, the focus is on education, without referencing specific cases unless supported by additional media. Recent images on social media have highlighted potential human negligence, even with established Standard Operating Procedures (SOP). The consistent enforcement of these procedures remains a challenge. Drivers must ensure all locks and securing mechanisms are checked before entering roads. Dato' Chang urges haulage companies, container depots, and traders to implement more thorough checks and safeguards to prevent such incidents, reduce disruptions, and avoid unnecessary dissatisfaction. He also suggests that relevant authorities like APAD and JPJ consider reviewing and addressing these issues proactively.

The recent tragic container overturning accident, which resulted in a fatality, has garnered significant attention. Guang Ming Daily reported on the incident, while Astro AEC News covered it in a live broadcast on 16 November 2024. During the broadcast, Dato' Logistician Chang Kah Loon, FCILT, FLogM, President of The Society of Logisticians Malaysia (LogM) and Chairman of The Chartered Institute of Logistics and Transport (CILTM) Penang Section, emphasized the critical issues surrounding the accident. He highlighted the interconnectedness of every component in the supply chain, from import/export consignments to haulage, road transport, container handling, and workplace SOPs. Dato' Chang called for a thorough investigation to uncover any potential human negligence or lapses in the processes.

He stressed that logistics management is a shared responsibility among all stakeholders and that while safety policies, rules, and SOPs are in place, consistent enforcement and adherence remain significant challenges. Dato' Chang urged all parties to prioritize safety at all times to prevent similar tragedies in the future.

CILTM SECTION ACTIVITIES PENANG SECTION

Recent traffic congestion on the Penang Bridge, causing delays of several hours, prompted Dato' Log. Ts. Chang Kah Loon to propose mitigation strategies. He emphasized the need for a fully integrated accident investigation unit, better public transport options like LRT and a feeder bus system, and a focus on "moving people, not cars." He also highlighted the challenge of delayed response times to accidents and suggested utilizing CCTV and road monitoring systems for faster, coordinated responses. While traffic disruptions did not affect local sea and air freight logistics, Dato' Chang stressed the importance of proactive coordination and regular strategy reviews to improve Penang's transport systems.

大桥一遇车祸就堵塞

物流专家：执法单位应灵活变通

加速清理车祸现场

檳城大桥在早晨上班高峰时段出现交通大瘫痪，让许多每天需来回檳城及威省工作的上班族深感“可怕”。物流专家建议，在公共交通发展滞后如檳城轻轨快铁计划未落实前，缓解方案至关重要，执法单位应加快车祸现场的清理速度，尽量缩短交通堵塞时间。

檳城大桥周三（6日）早上早一场交通意外，导致从威省前往大桥的路段出现 14 公里车龙，许多驾驶者被困在路上，大约 3 个小时才达目的地。

马来西亚物流师协会总会长拿督曾家麟接受《优华日报》访问时指出，交通阻塞是因为车辆而引起，该协会之前向州交通理事会的概念一致，即人走车不走。

他说，虽然车祸不能怪罪在车辆身上，但更重要的是照顾人民，若要解决交通阻塞问题，必须发展公共交通，包括轻轨快铁、公共巴士等。

“目前政府已在推动檳城轻轨快铁计划，希望可以加速落成，因为公交可支持实践‘人走车不走’的概念。”

他表示，目前衔接檳城及威省的路面道路只有檳城大桥及二桥，加速发展公共交通迫在眉睫。在物流学上，交通阻塞问题无法解决，但可尽所能缓解交通。“我们有很多执法单位，四处都装有摄像头及相关设备，但行动力却很慢。”

他认为，每当发生任何意外事故，执法单位应该快速行动，在最短时间内移除阻碍交通的物体，才能有效缓解交通。

他说，如今面对的情况是，各执法单位陆续抵达车祸现场后，需依次序展开工作，可能 A 单位最先抵达，但必须等 B 单位进行调查后，再由 C 单位完成后续工作，最后 A 单位才能清理现场，移走涉祸车辆。

“这个过程非常耗时缓慢，堵在后面的其他交通工具无法行驶，车龙变得越来越长。”

据了解，各执法单位需控制就组工作，但过于缓慢的调查及善后行动，往往是造成交通阻塞的原因之一。

因此，他建议，所有执法单位必须设立一支可互相整合的缓解方协调小组，由第一个最先抵达的单位完成拍摄及记录意外现场的工作后，立即移走阻碍交通的车辆，加速整个缓解过程。

“执法单位需作出灵活性变动，先移走涉祸车辆，疏通道路后再进行调查。”

他指出，在国外，执法单位的缓解行动非常快速，大约半小时就成功移走障碍物，若我国可做到这点，就算发生车祸事故，民众最多也是等半小时而已。

另外，他说，现有的铁城大桥并不宽，若要开设一条特别通道给公共巴士、救护车、消防车等，必须再做研究。

他补充，如果在桥上设置巴士专用通道，民众必须事先决定是否使用该公共交通，若开车出门后被堵在车龙里，想要乘搭公交已太迟了，也是于事无补。

曾家麟指出，檳城的物流具有其独特性，即使檳城大桥出现交通瘫痪，对州内物流业造成的影响并不大，尤其是进出口物流，因为在檳城有机场，则会通过檳城国际机场空运出口。

他说，一般在威省、双溪大年、居林及玻璃市一带的海运出口，都会运输至北海货柜码头，其中有 40% 出口量来自柔佛，通过火车直接运输至北海港口。在檳城岛若六月一带的工业区，则会通过檳城国际机场空运出口。

“我们很少会在檳城大桥及二桥看到货车和罗里，如果桥上出现大货车，进口及出口物流管理仍在可控制范围，受影响反而是地方上的物流分配。”

他举例，网购必须通过本地的分配中心运送货品，一旦遇上大桥交通堵塞无法动弹，地方物流就会受到影响。

檳道路规则与监控充足 缺乏执法则难奏效

另一方面，曾家麟表示，檳城有很多道路摄像头，即使已有很多规则和规定，若没有进行执法，仍无法发挥其效应。

他说，一些改成单行道的道路变得更宽敞后，却被很多不负责人士将车辆违停在路上，最终道路反而变得更狭窄了。

他认为，禁止停车及等候的问题都可以通过执法解决，希望执法单位关注此事，善用现有的闭路电视设施作出改进，提升州内的交通管理。

“在国外没人敢违停车辆，除了人民本身的行为，执法单位也扮演举足轻重的角色。”
